excerpt from exegetical studies several of the following papers have already appeared in different magazines and arc incorporated in this work by the kind permission of the editors of these magazines the object of these exegetical studies is to bring the result of modern exegesis to bear upon the interpretation of some difficult passages of scripture some of these passages as for example our lord s blessing to peter saved by fire and the spirits in prison are of great importance and have given rise to much controversy in the church of christ while all of them have been very differently understood by leading divines belonging to different schools of theology whether in this work anything has been added to their elucidation the reader must judge in discussing them i have endeavoured to be fair and impartial nor do i think that the reader will find any trace of that most objectionable of all polemical artifices by which the controversialist attempts to prejudice his reader against his opponent the odium theologicum about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works this volume investigates various exegetical possibilities in christian latin poetry during late antiquity and the middle ages in the latin west poetry was mainly associated with the powerful pagan tradition of writers like vergil and ovid and by many poetry was considered to tell lies and provide mere entertainment potentially corrupting the soul therefore christians initially had reservations about this genre and believed it to be incompatible with christian worship literacy and intellectual activity in practice however forms of specifically christian poetry developed from the end of the third century onwards theoretical reconciliations were developed around 400 a d this collection examines specimens of christian poetry from juvenus the first biblical epicist shortly after 300 up to the thirteenth century its particular usefulness lies in the combination of literary theory and hermeneutics close readings of the texts and new readings on a sound philological basis this intermediate advanced text and workbook teaches syntax as well as exegesis by means of a modified inductive approach the faith of jesus christ represents an attempt to grapple with one of the most perplexing problems in pauline studies namely that of the phrase pistis christou issues of considerable theological import hinge on how we interpret it does it mean faith in christ or the faithfulness of christ the topic is now well rehearsed in contemporary scholarship and this volume sheds new light on the question by presenting rigorous exegetical studies from both sides of the debate it also brings creative new proposals to bear on the problem and orients the discussion in the wider spectrum of historical biblical and systematic theology the faith of jesus christ represents the most penetrating and comprehensive attempt to date to grapple with the significance of jesus faithfulness and obedience for christian salvation and the extent to which it is represented in key biblical texts book jacket

scholarly interest in intertextuality remains as keen as ever armed with new questions interpreters seek to improve their understanding of the function of older scripture in later scripture the essays assembled in the present collection address these questions these essays treat pre christian texts as well as christian texts that make use of older sacred tradition they analyze the respective uses of scripture in diverse jewish and christian traditions some of these studies are concerned with discreet bodies of writings such as the dead sea scrolls while others are concerned with versions of scriptures such as the hebrew or old greek and text critical issues other studies are concerned with how scripture is interpreted as part of apocalyptic and eschatology early christian literature and intertextuality includes essays that explore the use of old testament scripture in the gospels and acts other studies examine the apostle paul s interpretation of scripture in his letters while other studies look at non pauline writings and their utilization of scripture some of the studies in this collection show how older scripture clarifies important points of teaching or resolves social conflict law conversion anthropology paradise and messianism are among the themes treated in these studies themes rooted in important ways in older sacred tradition the collection concludes with studies on two important christian interpreters syriac speaking aphrahat in the east and latin speaking augustine in the west
